Civil Rights Is Big Issue in Maryland Vote

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP)—The early turnout of voters was spotty today for Maryland's Democratic presidential primary enlivened by the civil rights issue and intensive campaigning of Gov. George C. Wallace.

An expected heavy vote did not appear to be materializing in the inconclusive opening hours of primary day. The weather was pleasant — sunny with temperatures in the high 70s.

There was some whispering among Democratic leaders that the Alabama governor might win, but Wallace's opponent, Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, said "our side will win."

Brewster filed as a favorite son in an effort to make sure that Maryland's 48 votes in the national nominating convention go to President Johnson. The delegation will be committed to the primary winner for at least one ballot.

State Democratic Chairman Harry Gross conceded Wallace 25 to 30 per cent of the vote, but insisted the governor doesn't have a chance of winning.

Running against Gov. John W. Reynolds last month in Wisconsin, Wallace pulled 33.7 per cent of the Democratic vote. Earlier this month he got 29.8 per cent in Indiana's primary against Gov. Matthew E. Welsh. Reynolds and Welsh, like Brewster, were favorite sons pledged to Johnson.

Democrats in Wisconsin and Indiana claimed Wallace was helped by Republicans who switched to the Democratic primary in an attempt to embarrass Johnson.

There'll be no cross-over voting in Maryland, voters are restricted to the primary of their party.

Voters who don't like Wallace or Brewster can vote to send an uncommitted delegation to the convention.

Wallace, a segregationist, based his campaign on opposition to the civil rights bill pending in the U.S. Senate. But long before he arrived on the scene, civil rights was a touchy issue in Maryland, a border state with strong Southern traditions.

Negro demonstrations set off violence last year in Cambridge, a town on the predominantly conservative Eastern Shore. National Guard troops were sent in to stop the fighting. Last week troops used tear gas to break up a Negro demonstration after Wallace had spoken in Cambridge.

A dozen Senate colleagues, including Edward M. Kennedy, brother of the late president, campaigned in Maryland for Brewster.

Officials predicted that half of Maryland's 933,000 registered Democrats would vote. That would be 20 per cent more than normal for a presidential primary.

Republican leaders urged party members to vote for uncommitted delegates in the GOP primary and head off a campaign by John W. Steffey to capture the state's delegation for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Even if Steffey loses, he will have another chance to get votes for Goldwater. Steffey has filed states of delegates in every district for the state convention, which names the delegation to the national convention.

Candidates for U.S. senator and eight seats in the House also were selected.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall, 70, sought Republican nomination to a third term and had three challengers.

This Fellow Was a Real Lucky One

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Julian Salazar, 29, suffered small burns on each of his big toes Monday when he made accidental contact with a 138,000-volt power line. The mishap knocked out electrical power in a large section of San Antonio for 20 minutes.

Salazar told investigators he was working at a City Public Service Board substation when a steel reinforcement rod he held touched the power line.

Court Enters Utah Teacher Strike Picture

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—A court order was signed today to restrain Utah Education Association officials from ordering or encouraging strike action by Utah's 10,000 teachers.

The injunction was signed by Judge Joseph G. Jeppeson just before the teachers met to decide what to do next in their efforts to get more money.

Most of the public schools opened today, as Monday, when the two-day teachers' protest walkout began. Substitute teachers, supervisors, parents and OPAQ officials took charge in the schools. But many closed after an initial roll call.

The State Board of Education sought the injunction. The order places legal restraint on UEA officials from "encouraging teachers or other personnel to breach their contracts or to strike against the state or any of its school districts."

The teachers were to discuss at a mass meeting today proposals that included prolonging the walkout and continuing to refuse to sign next year's contracts.

They hope to force the hand of Gov. George D. Clyde and get more school money.

The walkout was triggered by Clyde's refusal to heed the recommendations of his study committee and call a special legislative session to consider an emergency $6-million appropriation for schools.

The success of the teachers' action was being watched in neighboring Idaho and throughout the nation by teachers not content with local conditions. A walkout by 620 union teachers in East St. Louis, Ill., Monday.

The walkout drew some student support in Salt Lake City, where demonstrators carried signs reading, "Fair play for the UEA" at the State Capitol.

Clyde told the demonstrators, "Every step is going to be taken that can be taken to see you don't lose your opportunities." He was hanged in effigy by other students at a local high school.

John C. Evans Jr., UEA executive secretary and leader of the protest action, called Monday's walkout successful.

The UEA has demanded more money for salaries and school facilities. It says Utah teachers' salaries rank 23rd in the nation. They receive between $4,400 and $7,000 a year, with the average $5,900, it said.

The UEA claims it represents 96 per cent of Utah public school teachers.

Hypochondriacs Will Be Glad to Know There Are 54,000 Drug Stores in the U. S.

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail.

The odds are 14,937 to 1 that you won't make a hole in one while playing golf.

Hypochondriacs will be glad to learn that there are now more than 54,000 drugstores in the United States, or about one for every three physicians in active private practice.

One of the safest places to be in America is on the job. Last year industry reported only 6.19 disabling injuries per million manhours of employment.

A survey found that about 33 per cent of unemployed or retired men reported they were "not too happy," as compared with 12 per cent who had jobs.

On the other hand, women who were not in the work force were discovered to be just about as happy as employed women.

Americans account for about two-thirds of the world's mail. They send or receive some 64 billion letters and postcards a year, plus a billion parcels.

Spicer Revives His Attacks on Rockefeller

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—

Reports circulated in Arkansas Republican circles today that a resolution might be introduced in Thursday's GOP Central Committee meeting asking state Chairman William Spicer of Fort Smith to resign.

One source said the resolution was in the "thinking stage" and was based on resentment to two letters recently written by Spicer criticizing Winthrop Rockefeller.

One Republican said he thought a move to oust Spicer would be a mistake. He asked that his name not be used.

"Let him (Spicer) serve out his term, which is only until the reorganization of the state committee following the state convention in August," the source said. "We can replace him then."

"Such a resolution would involve the state committee in a bitter floor fight on Thursday, and I think we need to tend to delegates and committeemen on the national committee at that time," the source said. "I would regret to see such a move made at that time."

Rockefeller backers made Spicer's second letter public Monday.

Rockefeller supporters revealed Saturday one letter in which Spicer called a meeting Sunday at Hot Springs of a select group of Republicans. That letter indicated that a "Republicans for Pabbus" group might be formed.

The second letter included quotations from books which criticized Rockefeller business operations, the Rockefeller family and Winthrop Rockefeller.

Awarded for Performance

James M. Case

A former resident of Hope received the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Superior Service Award and a silver medal and pin from Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, May 19, in a ceremony at the Sylvan Theater on the Washington Monument Grounds.

Receiving the award was James M. Case, woodland conservationist with the Soil Conservation Service at Hope from 1937 until he entered the Navy in 1942. Since Jan. 1, 1956, he has been Washington-Field Woodland Conservationist with headquarters at Spartanburg, S. C.

In this position he provides technical leadership and guidance to SCS field personnel in the nine Southeastern States and Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

Case is married to the former Miss Ruby Owen of Hope. They have two children John 17, and Janet, 15.

The Superior Service Award, second highest given by the Department of Agriculture, was presented "for outstanding leadership and initiative in adapting sound forestry principles to guides for planning and applying woodland conservation practices on private land in the Southeast."

Case is a native of Ashland, Wis., where he was graduated from Ashland High School in 1929. He attended Northland College at Ashland for two years the University of Wisconsin, and was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1936.

He began his professional work as a field assistant with the U. S. Forest Service in northern Wisconsin in 1937, transferring later that year to the Soil Conservation Service at Hope. At Hope he has served as project forester, work unit conservationist and area conservationist for the next five years.

The American Legion Auxiliary District 12 President Mrs. J. E. Baugh of DeQuincy wishes to announce that the State Department President's $5 award has been turned over to the Department Secretary, Mrs. Inez Compton, for the Ecuador water project, "Pennies for Pumps."

The money had been presented originally to the District 12 junior members for having secured junior memberships in every unit in the district in 1963-64.

Mrs. Baugh said, "This project has been one of much concern in the Community Service phase of the Auxiliary work this year. Since the people of Ecuador do not have an adequate water supply, it is hoped that this fund raising project will help provide the water pumps for our less fortunate neighbors."

Man Drowns in Little River

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP)—Bonnie Gene Wood, 29, of near Texarkana, drowned Monday after the boat in which he was riding struck an underwater object and overturned in Little River in Little Rock County.

A companion with Wood told members of a rescue unit that he and Wood were swimming behind the boat, pushing it toward the bank and Wood went under about eight feet from the bank.

Rescue units from Hope, Ashdown, Foreman and Texarkana recovered the body after dragging the river for more than three hours.

Candidate for Governor Is Ineligible

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett ruled today that ex-convict E. T. (Gene) Ridgeway of Newport is not eligible to be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Bennett said he was sending a copy of his opinion to Democratic Party officials. "I've already talked with them and they said that Ridgeway's name will be removed from the ballot."

If Ridgeway's name is stricken, three candidates will be left to oppose Gov. Orval E. Faubus in the July 28 primary—Odele Dorsey of Grant County, Joe Hubbard of Russellville and R. D. Burrow of Walnut Ridge.

Bennett issued his opinion at the request of B. McCollum of Helli. McCollum asked for the opinion after Bennett said in a news conference that he had researched the law in the Ridgeway case and was prepared to issue an opinion to anyone who asked for it.

Bennett cited Article 5, Section 9, of the Arkansas Constitution which states:

"No person hereafter of embezzlement of public money, bribery, forgery or other infamous crime shall be eligible to the general assembly or capable of holding any office of trust or profit in this state."

Bennett said that the Arkansas Supreme Court had held that pardons and restoration of citizenship rights do not qualify a convicted felon for public office under the Constitution.

Ridgeway served 21 months of a five-year prison sentence for embezzlement in 1955 when he was a delinquent tax collector in Jackson County.

"The essence of a pardon is forgiveness or remission of penalty. A pardon implies guilt," Bennett wrote. "It does not obliterate the fact of commission of the crime and the conviction thereof; it does not wash out the moral stain. Therefore, the pardon itself acknowledges a conviction of the crime pardoned and has only the effect of restoring civil rights as distinguished from political privileges."

"Mr. Ridgeway is not eligible as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, could not be a qualified candidate in the general election, cannot be elected and could not serve."

"In view of this opinion, his signing the party loyalty pledge and corrupt practice pledge and the paying of the ballot fee was a nullity. He is not and has never been a lawful candidate and his candidacy is void."

Ridgeway lived in Norfolk, Va., where he was manager of a trailer firm for several months before filing as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor.

Last week he was reached at the trailer sales company in Norfolk. He said Bennett's remarks at that time about him not being a legal candidate were part of a Pabbus plot to eliminate opposition to the governor.

$5.2 Billion for Space Programs

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved today $5.2 billion for space programs and $5.4 billion for veterans' programs.

The appropriations are included in a $13,318,965,500 omnibus money bill that provides financing for 25 miscellaneous government agencies for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Major reductions were in funds sought for additional federal personnel. The total is 6.5 per cent less than President Johnson requested.

The committee voted an additional $25,000 for expenses of Mrs. John F. Kennedy arising from a deluge of mail expressing sympathy over the assassination of the late president.

Another new item in the bill is $400,000 to carry out the 1964 presidential transition law which provides expenses and office help for presidents-elect between the time of their election in November and their inauguration in January. Johnson had requested $800,000.

Southerners Against All Amendments

WASHINGTON (AP)—

Senators backing the civil rights bill predicted today a package of amendments proposed by Senate leaders had picked up votes toward ending a Southern filibuster.

On their part, Southern senators said the proposed changes would make the bill "even more obnoxious," and they'd go down the line fighting it.

"I feel these amendments have won some cloture votes," Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., floor manager of the bill said after a meeting of 47 of the 67 Democratic senators.

Humphrey said the amendments would provide a bill all could live with and "it will be a good bill."

He spoke of the amendments as a compromise to get support to end the filibusters.

Says Teacher Hard to Get Along With

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—The Cutler-Morning Star School Board issued a statement Monday which said that science teacher Edwin Pund will not be rehired because he failed to get along with other teachers and failed to maintain proper classroom discipline.

It had been reported earlier that Pund's contract would not be renewed because of his use of the Bible in classroom instruction. Pund, 42, has been a teacher in the school system for two years.

The school board statement was issued after school board President Clarence Rowe told newsmen that the board's decision not to rehire Pund was not influenced by Pund's use of the Bible in the classroom.

The statement said: "Reading the Bible in the classroom is not the reason the contract is not being renewed as all other teachers in the system are encouraged to have daily Bible reading in the classroom."

The statement said the board had offered to meet with Pund to discuss the issues that led to his dismissal and he did not accept.

"Therefore, in view of this refusal to meet with the school board plus other demands he (Pund) make upon the board, the board did not consider renewal of his contract, the statement said.

Says UN Aim Forced World Integration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker told a "Rally for Civil Peace" Monday night that the civil rights bill is a result of a United Nations plan to force integration on the world.

Race troubles have been stirred up in this country as part of that design, Walker said and the goal of the U.N. program is a "one-world seat of authority."

"The U.N. is not working for the U.S.," Walker said. "It is working against this country. The U.N. is a foreign government."

He referred to the Communist takeover in Cuba, U.S. withdrawal from Laos and the "political" war in Viet Nam as "fulfillment of U.N. plans, purposes and policies."

Walker also said that use of troops in racial disorders in this country is part of the same plan and that soldiers are being trained today in police tactics — methods that could be used only in internal disputes.

"Our military forces have become a symbol of success when used internally and of failure externally," Walker said. He referred to use of troops in race crises at Little Rock at Oxford, Miss., as examples of troop use internally.

Walker called the civil rights bill a "police rights" bill and said it would take a "central military or police dictatorship to enforce it."

About 275 persons attended the rally, sponsored by the Capital Citizens Council.

Judge Upholds Special Election

EVENING SHADE, Ark. (AP) — Circuit Judge Harrell Simpson has upheld special elections last June in which voters approved consolidation of county seats at Ash Flat and construction of a court house at Ash Flat.
The proposals were held defeated on the grounds that the state constitution requires a majority of the registered voters, not just those voting.
Simpson ruled that all proposals on the ballot received sufficient and proper majorities. He ordered that steps be taken as quickly as possible to move the county seats from Hardy and Evening Shade to Ash Flat.
Voters approved construction of a $235,000 court house at Ash Flat.

himself.
The books mentioned in the letter were, "A Choice, Not an Echo," by Phyllis Schlafly; "None Dare Call It Treason," by John A. Stormer and "Rockefeller Internationalist," by Emanuel M. Josephson.
In discussing the first two publications, the letter said, "Both authors are bona fide, down to earth TRUE Americans."
Of the third book Spicer said, "I can assure you, this book gives the low down on the Rockefeller people. . . It will make one's hair stand on end. . . It will cause goose pimples."
The two letters again brought into focus an intra-party feud between a group of "old guard" Republicans led by Spicer and the Rockefeller faction.
It erupted in 1963 because of what Spicer called Rockefeller efforts to usurp control of the party. It subsided with only occasional flareups until Saturday when the first letter was made public.
Sunday, Spicer said the group which met with him at Hot Springs, met not to form a "Republicans for Faubus" group, but to discuss information that Rockefeller planned to run as a favorite son candidate for president at the GOP national convention this summer.
Spicer said after the meeting that the group rejected any thought of the establishment of a "Republicans for Faubus" group.
That letter brought cries from several Republican leaders, including Rockefeller who said it ended Spicer's usefulness to the state Republican party.

bill," was the way he described some 70 amendments worked out by a bipartisan leadership and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.
Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., captain of the Dixie bloc, said it was the consensus of the Southerners that the amendments would make the bill more obnoxious.
He told newsmen also that the Southerners had decided at their weekly caucus to permit no votes on amendments to the bill for the remainder of this week.
Sponsors of the bill had forecast that a vote might be allowed on the pending jury trial amendment after today's Maryland primary.
Russell said "we are not counting on this in our strategy here" although he conceded the Dixie forces would welcome any psychological boost from a strong showing in Maryland by Alabama Gov. George Wallace.
The Southern caucus was the first to end of three morning closed meetings on the bill.
The other two were Democratic and Republican conferences at which the package of amendments worked out by Senate leaders with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was to be explained.
No final decisions are expected, but leaders believe they'll leave the sessions with a pretty good idea of which of the 70 changes are acceptable.
The Republican leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, said he thinks additional GOP sessions may be necessary.
The assistant Democratic leader, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, told reporters he hopes one session will be enough for his side. But Humphrey said individual conferences with undecided Democrats will be going on for some time.
The amendments are designed to win over some of the senators who are lukewarm or cool to the House-passed bill. If they can be satisfied, the reasoning goes, they will support a move to silence the Southern talkathon that has carried the bill to 69 days of debate.
Dirksen and Humphrey insist that the proposed amendments would not weaken the bill.
Humphrey said some Democrats told him the amendments go too far. A number of Republicans have complained that the changes do not go far enough to meet their objections.
The amendments originated with Dirksen but were altered considerably in meetings with Humphrey, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and others.
The two sections chiefly affected are public accommodations and equal employment opportunity.
The amendments would remove the government's power to file antidiscrimination suits in individual cases, an authority contained in the bill as it came from the House.
They would leave the attorney general the right to go directly into court if he found a pattern of discrimination. Aggrieved individuals would have to file their own suits.
The amendments would give states which have public accommodations and equal employment laws specified periods to handle complaints before federal power could be invoked.
The amendments also contain explicit language banning any federal court orders to bus school children from one district to another in an effort to remove racial imbalances.
Humphrey said that even if the package proves widely acceptable, it is highly unlikely any move will be made to get closure to shut off the Southerners before June 2.
That is the date for the California Republican presidential primary. Humphrey said he understands Republican senators who back Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona would be unwilling to consider closure before the primary.
Goldwater has been opposed to the civil rights bill and to closure, the Senate's procedure for cutting off debate.

West Trade With Reds Is Up Sharply

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP)—Western trade with Communist nations is slowly and steadily rising, but the Western embargo on exports of strategic items is holding firm, according to the international watchdog group which keeps a close eye on the exchanges.
Exports to the Soviet bloc and China made up 4.2 per cent of the West's total exports in 1961, the last full year for which figures are available.
Imports from the Soviet bloc and China made up 3.9 per cent of the Western world's total in 1961. Both these figures are almost double the comparative 1952 figure.
Sources close to the 15-nation Coordinating Committee for East-West trade — COCOM — say that the controls over exports to the Communist nations are not intended to dampen international commerce.
"We are not waging economic warfare. The principal objective is to prevent the flow of strategic materials which could add to the ability of the Communist powers to wage war," one informant said.
The hitch comes in the definition of strategic materials. For some items there is immediate unanimous agreement. For others, long and heated technical arguments consume day every year before a compromise is reached.
"If you wanted to carry it to the extreme, you could say that buttons are a strategic item," explained one man who follows the work of the yearly review of the embargo lists.
"If the Russians didn't have any buttons, the soldiers might not be able to keep their pants up. But we aren't trying to prevent the export of buttons. We're aiming principally at slowing down the development of industries with a war potential."
The United States has been ranked by the sale of British buses and French locomotives to Cuba.
But Cuba is not on the list of Communist nations — Russia, China and the Eastern European satellites — covered by the COCOM export lists.
Nevertheless, the COCOM nations—all the North Atlantic Treaty Organization members except Iceland but plus Japan—have agreed not to ship arms or implements of war to Cuba.
Most of them have also taken measures to prevent transshipment of American goods to Cuba. But there has been little inclination to go any further in clamping down on Cuba trade.

Sees Need for Knowledge About China

By ANTHONY WHITE
LEEDS, England (AP)—It's just over 10 years since Prof. Owen Lattimore—then lecturer in Chinese history at Johns Hopkins University—was caught in the turmoil of the McCarthy era rows, accused of being a Soviet Agent.
Today he lives a quiet life in England, remote from political controversy, the troubles of the 50s just a memory. In one way he's started life again.
Last summer, Lattimore left Johns Hopkins University, where he had worked for 25 years, to head a new department of Chinese studies at Leeds University.
"I like it here," he says, and leans far back in his heavy office chair and the smoke from his pipe curls around his sandy hair. "It's not given to many men at 64 to be starting something new like I am. Most academics at my age are running down like unwound clocks."
He dresses in hairy Scottish tweed jackets and comes to his office each day from his nearby village home, which has the picturesque name of the Old Rose Cottage. He lives there with his wife Eleanor. They have a son, David, now at Yale.
To Lattimore now his trials of the McCarthy days are memories he'd rather forget. He says he bears no grudges, still regards the United States as his home, and plans to go back there when he retires in 1967.
At one time during the 1950s Lattimore was branded by Wisconsin. Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy as "the top Russian espionage agent in the United States." Later McCarthy modified this to read "one of the top" agents.
At one point Lattimore was indicted on seven counts of perjury. In 1955 a federal court dismissed two of the counts and then the Justice Department dropped the rest.
"I was angry at the time," Lattimore said in an interview, "as anyone would be had they been so falsely accused. But it's no use sitting around nursing rancor. That doesn't get you anywhere."
The dominating interest in Lattimore's life now is his department of Chinese studies. He is its first professor. It is a four-year degree course where the "language lab" system tapes is used. Lattimore claims great success so far.
"At the end of 12 weeks," he said, "we had students taking simple dictation."
Lattimore sees an increasing need for a knowledge of China and Chinese as the nation grows in power and world importance. And it is a power and importance which cannot be ignored, he says.

Youths Brawl on British Coast

LONDON (AP) — Teen-agers by the hundreds split into rival groups based on their styles of dress, brawled at resorts on England's southern coast today for the second straight day.
Brighton, the main trouble spot, was a virtual battleground between hordes of youngsters. Fighting raged up and down beach and ocean boulevards.
Reinforced squads of police, many on horseback, moved in and began trying to nudge the swirling mobs out of the center of the bustling resort town.
They did not appear to be having much success.
Officers arrested 50 youths on charges of assault or obstructing police.
At Margate, where 60 teen-agers were held overnight after disorders Sunday, the magistrate started handing out jail terms ranging from three to six months and fines of from $140 to $210.

Jaycees Elect New President

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Junior Chamber of Commerce elected Ray Cooper of Little Rock president at its annual convention here Saturday.
Elected national directors were Buck Sadler of Pine Bluff, DeLoss Walker of Jonesboro, Donnie Stroh of DeWitt and Jack Deason of Rogers. Glenn Jermstead of North Little Rock was named international director.
Mrs. Billie Wright of Pine Bluff was elected president of the Arkansas Jaycees. The Jaycees met in conjunction with the Jaycee convention.

Reunited for First Time in 70 Years

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP)—A sister, separated 70 years from other members of her family, was reunited with some of them Sunday because of a Wilmington News-Journal photograph transmitted by The Associated Press.
Edna M. Baker, 73, of Mount Holly, N.J., met with her brother and sister for the first time since they were placed in orphanages and foster homes 70 years ago when their parents separated.
Mrs. Baker got on the track of her missing relatives when she saw a picture taken by News-Journal chief photographer Bill Sneed on April 5 as the funeral cortege of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur crossed the Delaware Memorial Bridge. Visible in the photo was Charles E. Mulholland, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.
Mrs. Baker saw the photo in another newspaper. Hoping Mulholland might be her brother, Mrs. Baker called him.
"Did you have a sister named Edna?" she asked.
"No, but my father did," said Mulholland, who turned out to be her nephew. His father, Edward Mulholland, died in 1960, at the age of 67.
Mrs. Baker was only 3 when her family broke up.
"I remembered I had two brothers, Charles and Edward," she said Sunday. She said she did not remember having any sisters, but Verdie Graff, 69, of Marion, Ohio, a sister; and her brother, Charles Mulholland, 79, of Montebella, Calif., were on hand for the reunion.
There are two more sisters, Hattie Rich, 72, and Bessie Lenox, 81, both of Providence, R.I. Mrs. Baker said she hopes to meet them again soon.

Chaffee to Be Closed Regardless

FORT SMITH (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert McNamara announced Monday that the Army had decided to go ahead with its decision to close Fort Chaffee.

In a letter Monday to Mayor Robert Brooksher, McNamara said the Army had had exhaustively reviewed the closing before reaching its decision.

Fort Chaffee was one of a large group of military installations to be closed or cut back as a result of economic measures in the military. The post will be placed on a caretaker status by June, 1965.

The order affects 6,214 military personnel and will eliminate 1,300 civilian jobs.

McNamara said he has ordered a study to determine whether the post can be closed permanently or whether it should remain on high priority status for reactivation in an emergency.

Brooksher and a Fort Smith delegation met with McNamara in April in an effort to get the Army to reverse its decision to close the Post.

Brooksher said at that time the Arkansas group requested that the post be permanently closed if it could not remain open on an active status.

"We can't stand this yo-yo effect," Brooksher told The Associated Press Monday night.

House

On motion, rejected 132-247, to send back to committee—and thus kill—bill authorizing an increase of $312 million in U.S. contribution to International Development Association's loan program for underdeveloped nations: For the motion — Gathings. Against — Mills, Trimble. Not voting — Harris.

Senate

On Curtis, R - Neb., amendment, adopted 36-33, providing that any three members of Senate Rules Committee may require a witness to testify: For

"Each time the fort closes or re-opens, it throws the real estate markets into a tailspin. We need something with more stability."

He said the Fort Smith area would lose about $2 million a month when the close down is completed.

"It is distressing that the people of Fort Smith have been repeatedly put in the position of having to expand the provisions of goods and services, only to have the purchasing power removed by the closure of Chaffee," McNamara said in his letter.

He added: "The spirit with which they have met these fluctuations has indeed been commendable."

The old man's eyes were steady and penetrating, and Malcolm felt the thrill of recognition as he looked into their depths.

"Either way it doesn't matter. Is that it?"

Senor Quesada looked thoughtful. "I think I was born with that conviction. To know, as you and I know, that things are meaningless, is probably a form of insanity."

"Are there many like us — outside of institutions, that is — 'Probably more than you would imagine.'"

Malcolm found his bottled-up laughter becoming painful. He rubbed his lips to hide a smile. "These guns Clarke came across—they were in Algeria."

"Yes, they were stored somewhere near Colomb-Béchar."

"German rifles, of course."

"Of course," Senor Quesada said, frowning faintly. "But how did you know that?"

"I overheard some talk."

"Yes, they're Model 41's, a gas-operated rifle which the Germans experimented with in World War II."

This nearly set Malcolm off. But he checked himself with an effort. "It's fabulous," he said.

Senor Quesada seemed both pleased and embarrassed to accept credit for this final bit of ingenuity. "Yes, it's clever," he said, with a modest and deprecating smile. "Fifteen bolts can bring the rifles in quite easily. The fishermen have been told the crates contain whiskey. They will never know otherwise."

Senor Quesada opened the wallet and its gold-bound corners flashed brightly as he removed a thick white envelope and placed it in front of Malcolm. "This will remind you to get in touch with me," he said.

"Call it a down payment for future services, if you like."

"Thank you," Malcolm said, and put the envelope in the inside pocket of his jacket.

They shook hands formally in the light falling through the great double doors of the villa. Their smiles were rather alike then, amused and intimate, as they said goodbye to one another between the figures of the crouching green leopards.

Then Malcolm walked down the winding path through the gardens to where a long black

Palmer in Victory at Okla. City

By NORMAN ROWLAND
Associated Press Writer
OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "When did you know you had it won, Arnie?" someone asked Arnold Palmer.

"When he stepped off the plane," Ernie Vossler interjected.

Actually it wasn't that simple for the four-times Masters champion.

Palmer trailed Lionel Hebert by three strokes going into the final round of the $40,000 Oklahoma City Open Monday, then put together one of his typically broken, blistering finishes for a two-stroke triumph.

Palmer, boldly going to his driver at every opportunity, whipped over the 7,042-yard Quail Creek Country Club course in a final-round five-under-par 67 for a winning 277, including birdies on the last two holes.

"I've been playing pretty well from tee to green," Arnie said. "The difference was in the putting. I was rolling in some of the little ones I haven't been getting lately."

He also got a little help from the weather.

The tourney start was delayed by two days of rain. On one of those days, Thursday, Palmer had shot a 75 before it was washed off the boards. When the first round was finally played Saturday he had a 72 and a 69 Sunday and had another 69 on the first 18 holes of Monday's 36-hole windup.

It was his first tourney victory since he picked up his fourth Masters title at Augusta, Ga., earlier this year. The $3,800 first-place money increased his winnings for the year to $44,298.

Hebert, who shared the half-way lead with George Bayer and was in sole control after 54 holes, blew his lead with bogies on the second and third holes of the final round.

Palmer pulled even with a birdie on No. 3 and went ahead to stay with another birdie on the sixth hole. Hebert never caught up, but he, Jack McGowan, South Africa's Bob Verwey and Mike Souchak stayed in contention until Palmer charged home with two closing birdies.

Hebert finished with a par 72 for 279 and $3,500 second-place money.

Verwey had a closing 70 for 281 and third place, his best PGA tour finish. McGowan, 73, and Souchak, 72, tied for fourth at 282. Dave Marr had a closing 68 for 283 and sixth place.

Steam Whistle Mystery Over

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The mystery of Georgia Tech's missing steam whistle is over.

Polished and mounted on a base, the whistle was delivered to the residence of retiring Dean George C. Griffin bearing this inscription:

"In behalf of all Tech men, this silenced memento is presented in the spirit of infamous Tech traditions to: Dean George C. Griffin, who has contributed so much to the legend of Georgia Tech."

Sent "to Mr. Georgia Tech," it was signed, "From the magnificent seven."

The heavy, 2-foot brass whistle was stolen Oct. 31, 1963, from top a campus building.

Many Horses Perish in Big Stable Fire

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Officials hoped to determine today exactly how many thoroughbred horses died from fire that turned Miles Park Race Track into a blistered arena of panic-stricken animals.

As best as could be determined Monday night, 17 thoroughbreds perished in the flames Monday afternoon, five more were injured and had to be destroyed and another died of a heart attack.

The flames, thrown from barn to barn by winds, drove the horses into stampede, their charges scattered firemen trying to douse the flames and their hooves sent up dust in choking clouds to mingle with the smoke.

Grooms, trainers, and stable hands led others of the some 600 horses to safety, including Devil's Advocate, one of the biggest winners at small tracks.

Twelve horse barns and one feed barn were destroyed by the fire, which started in a tack room of one barn. Track general manager Horace Wade estimated damage to barns at $100,000 but said it could go higher.

No figure was available on the value of the horses lost. None was believed to be of great value.

Four firemen were overcome by smoke or heat, or burned slightly, in battling the blaze.

At one time about 250 horses champions announced today.

In two seasons with the Bears, the former Baylor star has totaled 1,570 yards—767 rushing, 463 on pass receptions and 340 on kickoff returns.

Giants Fall to Mets, Houston Can't Get Runs

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer
The ladies of Houston got 186 runs for Ken Johnson.

The Colts got nary a one.

Philadelphia's Jim Bunning proved most ungentlemanly to the ladies and the Colts Monday night, ruining a "Runs for Johnson" promotion by allowing Houston only one hit in a 4-0 victory that sent the Phillies back into first place in the National League.

The Colts staged the promotion in an effort to produce runs for Johnson the no-hit, no-luck knuckleballer who went into the game with a 3-3 record. In the three losing efforts, including a no-hitter, the Colts had managed only two runs for Johnson.

The gimmick was simple: All ladies who arrived at the ball park with runs in their nylons were to be admitted at a reduced rate. Of the 5,284 people on hand, 186 were ladies with mashed mesh.

The result also was simple: Not only were the Colts unable to get a run, they had difficulty getting men on base. Only two reached first, Nellie Fox when he was hit by a pitch in the first inning and Jim Wynn, who lashed a ground single over third base leading off the fifth inning.

Otherwise Bunning was untouchable, bringing his record to 5-1 with his second shutout while Manager Gene Mauch watched from the stands.

Mauch had been fined $150 and suspended for two days following a run-in with umpire Lee Weyer in Sunday night's game.

Mauch's suspension will last through tonight's game against the Giants at San Francisco. The Giants, beaten by the New York Mets 4-2, are in second place, 10 percentage points behind the Phillies.

In the only other NL game scheduled, Steve Blass won his first major league start with a seven-hitter as Pittsburgh ended Don Drysdale's five-game winning streak by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2.

Detroit edged Washington 7-6 in the only American League game scheduled.

Bunning got the only run he needed in the fourth inning when Johnson was touched for singles by Wes Covington, John Herrnstein and Bobby Wine.

The Phillies added two runs in the fifth when Richie Allen doubled, John Callison singled and Tony Gonzalez doubled. Gonzalez doubled in another run in the seventh after Allen singled.

Johnson struck out nine and allowed nine hits before being replaced in the eighth inning.

The Mets had been unable to score against San Francisco pitching for 31 innings and trailed 1-0 in the eighth when Bob Taylor singled, Rod Kanehl beat out an infield hit and George Altman homered. That provided Galen Cisco with the victory and tagged Bob Shaw with the defeat.

The Giants used Willie Mays as a defensive replacement in the eighth inning. Mays got to bat only once, flied out and had his average trimmed another four points to .407.

Trailing 2-0, the Pirates struck for three runs in the sixth. A double by Dick Schofield and Bill Virdon's single scored the first run off Drysdale in 17 innings. A single by Roberto Clemente and a walk that filled the bases chased Drysdale. With Ron Perranoski pitching, Gene Freese hit a sacrifice fly and Donn Clendenon stroked a single to push the other runs across.

The Tigers defeated the Senators despite two homers and four runs batted in by Don Lock. Gates Brown and Norm Cash each collected three RBI for Detroit. Brown doubled home the tying runs in the ninth before Cash doubled home the clincher.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

How to be a hit

with the misses

The answer, obviously enough, is to become a 1964 Dart owner. For this young-at-heart beauty is winsome—and then some.

Take 1964 Dart styling, for instance. Handsome, dashing, suave, and far from stuffy. Here's a car anyone could love for looks alone. Inside, leather-grained vinyls are every bit as soft and supple as they appear. And how many other compacts can you name that offer a choice of standard or bucket seats, carpeting, and engines ranging from an Economy Run winning Six, to a sizzling, new 273 cu. in. V8.

So, if you want to be a hit with the misses, see your Dodge Dealer. But hurry, there are bound to be many other fellows with the same idea.
